

DYSART VOTES ON MON.

Ten Candidates In Race for Dysart Council Seats

Some two hundred rate payers of Dysart jammed the Haliburton Town Hall to the doors on Friday evening last when a large number of candidates were nominated. Some of those who have for years been regular attendants of nomination meetings here stated that this was the largest ever. Times have certainly changed over a period of years as we can well remember when you could scarcely get a baker's dozen out to a meeting of this sort.

The following were nominated for Reeve: Harold Black, Dr. L. Carroll, Saul Bernstein.

Dr. Carroll's nomination was withdrawn when it was learned by his sponsors that he would not consider standing.

For Deputy Reeve it was, Dr. Harry Bishop and A. H. Curry.

The following were nominated for Council: Carl Hussey, Roy Brown, A. H. Curry, Lou Consky, Billy Sisson, John Glazebrook, E. R. Schindler, Berkeley Feir.

Two positions on the Dysart School Board are to be filled.

Five were nominated, namely: Lester Walling, Rev. T. Ruthford, Harold Morrison, Russell Hutchings, Stanley Stoughton.

When nominations were completed the meeting was declared open and Mr. G. H. Windsor, Clerk of the Municipality, was again asked to act as chairman.

In opening the meeting, Mr. Windsor made a few very timely remarks on preservation. He told of listening to an address on Sweden. When the speaker had informed his listeners that for some years past now forest fires had not destroyed over two acres of timber in Sweden. This was due to the fact that the public are interested in public preservation of the country's resources. It has been stated said the speaker, that the population of Germany could live on what Canada wastes. He cited the destruction of electric lights in Eagle Lake and Haliburton and vandalism at our public rest rooms as examples of our lack of preservation of our own public property.

Reeve Harold Black was the next speaker and he gave a very comprehensive review of his stewardship as Reeve of this Municipality. At the outset of his address he stated that the Council had not completed all the projects that they had planned for the year but the year had been one of progress for our Municipality. One of accomplishments of which the Reeve was proud of was the formation of a Recreation Committee which was providing recreational programmes and facilities for children throughout the entire Township. He drew the attention of the rate payers to the value of the Deputy Reeve in the sessions of the County Council and stated that Dysart had this year received a better deal in the way of a more equal assessment. He regretted that opposition in Council prevented the purchase of new fire fighting equipment. He gave out the information that the debt of the Municipality now stood at $36,000.00 of which $63,000.00 was telephone debentures and would be paid out of revenue from the System and not by the taxpayers. The balance of the debt, $43,000.00 had been incurred by the building of the West Gullford School but the present educational grants would leave the Municipality only liable for the sum of $11,000.00. Mr. Black said that he would like another year as Reeve and would definitely be in the race.

Mr. Lester Walling gave an interesting account of affairs as the effect the public schools in this area and stated that while the School Board had been subjected to much criticism this year that they did not mind and while they had not accomplished all that they could or should, much progress had been made in school affairs. The Donald School had been wired, a new room which had been greatly needed to look after the overflow of school children in Haliburton village was to open Monday morning. Plans were already on the way to construct two new rooms on our High School and the new Orange Hall would be ready for school occupancy by new years it was hoped. The Line School was being wired. He expressed the hope that a parent and teachers organization might be formed in this locality in the near future.

Mr. Ronald J. Curry was then called and gave the rate payers some interesting information on the proposed new County Area High School which the board are hoping will begin construction on early next year. Negotiations are being carried on between the lawyers of the interested parties for the purchase of the Stewart property at the foot of Head Lake. If such negotiations fail, the matter will go to arbitration but in any case the next year should see the construction of a new County Area High School of at least 12 rooms at a cost of $270,000. While this seems quite a large sum it is not so great when spread over the County. The time of payment being spread over a number of years during the time when the County will receive sizeable school grants. In view of this the burden on any tax payer will be relatively small.

Mr. C. W. Hodgson, M.P., was called on to say a few remarks and stated his pleasure at seeing such a large crowd of rate payers present and said that he was confident that the rate payers would use good judgment in the exercise of the franchise on Monday, Dec. 3rd, and would select a good Council to conduct Dysart affairs for the coming year.

He stated that he would like his influence with the Department of Highways to have a sidewalk constructed along the highway for the benefit of those who must walk from Haliburton to the site of the new High School.

The golf course and Carnarvon roads would be improved next year and this is not an election promise either said the Member of Parliament.

Auction Sale

An Auction Sale is being held in Minden, December 10th, in aid of the Minden Recreation Centre.

All articles donated will be auctioned and the proceeds turned over to the rebuilding of the Arena. If you have anything to donate, kindly call 127 Minden. We will arrange for pick-up if necessary.

FLASH!!!

Owing to the efforts of the Reeve and Council of Anson, Minden and Minden in close co-operation with the Recreation Centre Committee, all outstanding obstacles have been overcome and work is to begin on Saturday, Dec. 1st on the reconstruction of the arena. It is estimated that the work required will take five weeks, weather permitting.

Mrs. R. J. Kerr Visits St. George's Guild Of Friendship

St. George's Guild of Friendship held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Russell Woodcock on Friday evening, November 23, with the president, Miss Doris Johnston in the chair.

A welcome visitor was Mrs. Kerr, who founded the organization two years ago.

A "Frosty Fair" was the name chosen for the bazaar to be held in the newly furnished church basement on Friday evening, December 7th at 8 p.m., instead of the following evening as previously announced.

Plans were made for the Frosty Fair with special decorations and a Handicraft table, Fancy work table, Touch and Take table, Bake table, Candy table and Fish Pond.

Tentative plans were made for the next meeting which will be a Christmas party. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Dorothy Davis and Mrs. Dorelle Baker.

Loreen Robertson Weds Raymond O'Neill

On November 24th, St. George's Church, Haliburton, was the setting for the wedding of Loreen Verna Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson and Raymond Howard O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts O'Neill. Rev. M. J. Cathcart officiated. The bride given in marriage by her father wore a strapless gown of brocade lace over slipper satin and a jacket of matching lace from which a train of tulle illusion, a Juliet cap and seed pearls held her full length veil of tulle illusion and she carried a white ivory prayer book and American Beauty roses. Doris Johnston of Haliburton was maid of honour carried tallman roses and wore a gown of old gold slipper satin with matching accessories. Margaret Jackson of Toronto as bridesmaid carried yellow roses and wore a similar gown of Emerald green. Their gowns were styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt with bustle effect.

Junior attendants were Catherine Kerr as flower girl, she carried pink roses and wore a floor length gown of yellow nylon over satin. Unice and Phyllis Burke as train bearers wore gowns of pale blue nylon over satin.

Mr. William Thom of Toronto was best man, Dale Robertson of Haliburton, brother of the bride, and Ted Stark of Toronto ushered.

At the reception at the Legion Hall the bride's mother wore a street length gown of violet crepe, mauve hat with matching accessories and a corsage of rose carnations.

The groom's mother wore a street length gown of navy blue crepe with navy hat and matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill will reside in Toronto following a motor trip for which the bride wore a beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

The reception was held at the Legion Hall, 85 sat down to a delightful afternoon tea served by Clarke's catering service.

Minden Citizen Passes

Robt. T. Kirkwood, a lifelong citizen of Minden, died suddenly at his home on Wednesday, November 28th.

Mr. Kirkwood had been in ill health for some time and had to relinquish his position with the Hydro last summer. His death, however, came as a shock to the community.

He is survived by his wife, Helena, one brother, Richard, one half brother, Edward; two sisters, Jean; (Mrs. Frank Waters of Toronto) Doris (Mrs. Coburn of Minden) Lavina, Isabel and Lucy.

The funeral service will be held on Friday afternoon at 2:30. Interment in Minden Cemetery.

Slim Brandon Leads Minden Band

Don't be surprised when you see some boys walking down the Main street of Minden with musical instruments under their arms. These boys are members of the newly formed Minden Band. Every village needs a band and the citizens of Minden are very proud to think that they are having a musical group to play at various occasions.

The band is under the leadership of Slim Brandon who is doing a grand job in forming Minden's first Band. Band practice at the present time is being held at the Town Hall. Most of the boys in the band are in the teenage group and many are showing great promise of becoming great musicians. This is a step in the right direction and it's hoped that the citizens of Minden will back it up.

Evangelist To Speak At The Lighthouse

Evangelist and Mrs. M. G. Brisco of Hamilton, are coming to Haliburton next Monday and will be speaking each evening at the Gospel Lighthouse for five nights only Dec. 3rd to 7th. Both Rev. and Mrs. Brisco are talented speakers and have conducted revival campaigns from coast to coast. All are invited to attend these special meetings.

Believe It Or Not

The following news item could go under the title of "Believe It Or Not". It seems that George Wain of Islington and George Miller of Wilberforce saw more than dew in hunting season. They were hunting between Yankton Lake and Kenabi Lake in the first week of the deer season just after the big snow storm, one of the men happened to kick a bit of mud and up popped a green frog full of life and hopping all over the place.

To see a green frog at this time of the year is something which is very unusual.

$2500 Mink Coat Donated To Minden Comm. Centre

Some lucky person will soon be wearing a $2500.00 mink coat as the result of a draw which will take place on the night of December 21st next. The coat is being raffled to raise funds for the rebuilding of the Minden Community Centre which collapsed in the heavy snow storm early in the month.

The coat will be on display in Lindsay, Peterboro, Oshawa, Orillia and other large cities. Tickets are $1.00 and the holder of the ticket drawn will have the privilege of purchasing the coat for $1.00.

Listen to radio stations CHEN Peterborough, or CFOR Orillia, for further details.

Huskies Drill This Sunday

The Haliburton Huskies will hold their first practice of the new season this Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Community Arena. Manager Jack Austin has informed us that all players are invited to attend the first work out. Everyone will have a chance to catch a spot on the club. It's this Sunday at 2 p.m. weather permitting. All players are asked to bring their own equipment.

Machine Marvels Duplicate Nature's Five Human Senses

Modern technology has reached the point where its mechanical instruments now not only perform the exact functions of the five human senses, but actually surpass them in accuracy. Here are the instruments, seen at work in the Du Pont Laboratories.

Smelling escaped gases around pipe fittings is the function of the leak detector used here by an engineering department employee.

Seeing—is performed by an expensive spectroprotometer. A chemical expert uses it to determine the exact color of paint.

Feeling machined surfaces for scratches is done with a surface profilometer. It is being used in mechanical development lab.

Hearing device is a sound level meter. Here a technician sets the delicate instrument to gauge intensity of noise.

Tasting solutions to determine amount of acidity is a job for the pH meter, being operated here by a Du Pont research chemist.

SPORTS & by A SIXBIT CRIM

Our senior football season is finished, at long last, although at one time—what with ties, playoffs and so forth—it looked very much as if they wouldn't be able to get the boys out of the huddles before Christmas. Altogether it was a fairly exciting season, the most memorable feature possibly being the fact that the Argonauts—by refusing to pay for having the tarpaulin put down at Varsity for their first playoff with Tiger-cats—probably just plain Scrooged themselves out of a tidy fortune. In fact, as some miscreant remarked, Argos committed slough-icide (OUCH).

As for big time hockey, the lads seem to have heard that it is twice as easy to get into the playoffs than it is to stay out of them, and are struggling for the rarer honor. Like one old-timer who was asked about the form of Canadian-bred race horses and replied, "Thim Canadian-breds certainly do bate one another with rare consistency." And with all due respect to "Mr. Hockey"—Conn Smythe, that is, as if you didn't know—the sooner the National Hockey League gets rid of those tie games, the sooner the cash registers in certain arenas will start to jingle.

Now we turn to another sport—one which we have somewhat neglected in the past—the game of table-tennis. And until we studied some statistics recently, we had no idea what a huge sport chasing the celluloid had become. Incidentally, the table-tennisers seem to have settled the perplexing problem of amateurism in a manner that is an example to some other sports we might name. They solved the problem by just defining all participants, paid or simon-pure, as "players" and letting it go at that.

England is a hotbed of table-tennis, although its popularity is world-wide. Twelve years ago there were in England 214 leagues, which represented 4008 clubs with an estimated membership of 75,000. When tournament play was resumed, following the war, these figures had dropped to 110—2,200 and 35,000. The same respective totals stand today at 350—6,800—and 130,000. That represents a whole lot of pinging and ponging, and no mistake, for just one country.

At the present time England possesses the world singles champion in John Leach and the women's doubles champions in the 18-year-old London twins, Diabe and Rosalind Rowe. Two former world champions, Victor Barna and Richard Bergmann who have found sanctuary in that country from central Europe and have become naturalized British subjects, are others who have done a great deal to raise English prestige in international play.

World championships and international play generally are conducted under the watchful eye of the International Table Tennis Federation, a body with more than 40 nations in membership. Recently the I.T.T.F. issued its annual ranking list. Occupants of the top three places for men were Leach (England); Andreadis (Czechoslovakia) and Sido (Hungary).

Highest from U.S.A. was Cartland in 14th place but a special footnote was added stating that U.S.A. No. 1, Richard Miles, who has been under suspension by his national association, is to receive special attention when the list is revised at the time of the world championships in February.

What's Up?—That's what the look on this sad-faced seal seems to ask as the creature pops its head out of its pool at the zoo in London, England, to peek at a cameraman who had been waiting patiently for something like this to happen. The flipper, as far as is known, merely wanted to know what the weather was like.

Top three women are Rozeanu (Romania), Farkas (Hungary) and Neuberger (U.S.A.). England's up-and-coming Rowe twins are well placed. The right-handed Rosalind is eighth and the left-handed Diane eleventh.

A noticeable feature of the rankings is that eight of the first 14 men and seven of the top dozen women are from countries behind the Iron Curtain. Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania are unquestionably the strongest countries at the present time and it is remarkable how easily the Iron Curtain can be lifted in the cause of table tennis. Twice in the past four years have the world championships taken place east of it and twice west and players have always intermingled with impunity.

Which is all the dope we have at present on table tennis which—from a ladylike pastime—has developed into one of the fastest and most arduous sports there is on earth. If you don't believe it, just try a couple of sets with a fairly speedy opponent. If you aren't ready to holler "Uncle" after the first 10 minutes—well, you're in better condition than we are, Gunga Din.

Killed Himself With Pack Of Cards

No prison has yet been constructed that will hold indefinitely a really clever, determined man. Servicemen who made such astonishing escapes during the war proved that.

Yet, for sheer ingenuity, few escape attempts equal the feat of William Kogut, an uneducated Polish lumberman, who migrated to the States where he was sentenced to death for killing a woman with a pocket knife.

As he sat in his cell, ticking off the days and listening to the screams of desperate men as they were dragged to the chair, he determined to outwit the authorities. But he had no weapons. All he had was a pack of cards.

Someone had told him once that playing cards are made of cellulose, a fibre from which tri-nitro cellulose, a high explosive is manufactured. Being an exceptionally powerful fellow, Kogut snapped off one of the hollow legs of his iron cot. Here was the casing for his bomb.

Carefully he tore the cards into minute pieces, soaked them in water till they were reduced to a pulp, pushed them into the iron tube and rammed them home hard like the charge in a muzzle-loading gun.

Then, taking the handle of the broom with which he swept his cell, he jammed it into the pipe on top of his charge, making it airtight. These preliminaries took hours and it was well past midnight when he re-lit the lamp in his cell and held his improvised bomb over the flame. The flame, he reckoned, would make the metal red hot and the charge inside would explode. Kogut fully expected the wall of his cell to cave in, but he had no idea that the bomb he had made was so powerful. When it went off his and eight adjacent cells were wrecked. The prison rocked. The countryside for miles was alarmed. For a time there was pandemonium. Whistles shrieked, bullets whizzed, and warning sirens and horns shattered the night with their raucous chorus. But when quiet was restored and guards rushed to the scene with lanterns, they found the shattered, almost headless corpse of No. 1651—William Kogut.

Blondin Crosses Niagara Falls

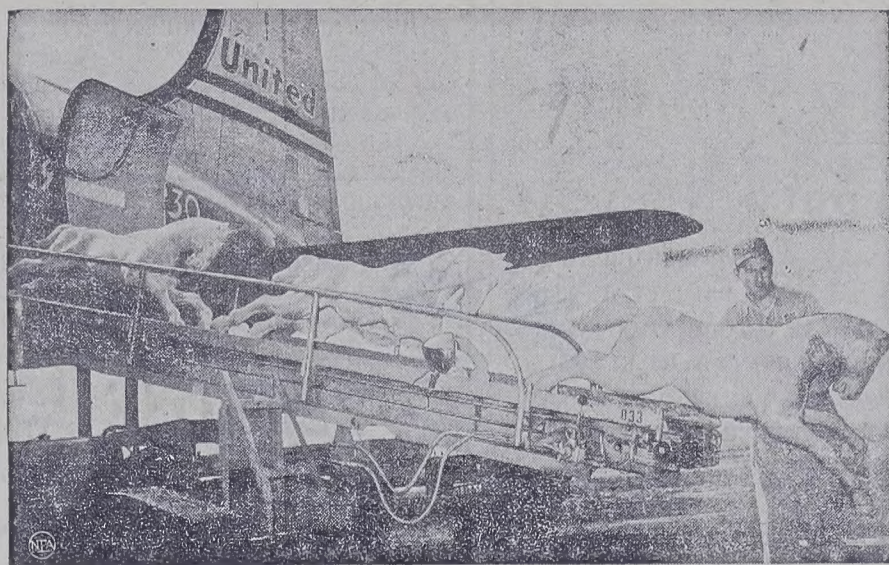

Who now, unless it be those ageing inhabitants who were boys and girls in 1859, recalls the exploits of the mighty Blondin, Monarch of the Cable?

It is Niagara with which his name is most intimately associated, and it is probably true that on the day of Blondin's most notorious feat all roads led to the giant cataract.

This, according to one of the historians of the event, was the way the rope was hung: First, a smaller cable was conveyed across the river, a thicker one attached, and to this again was attached the cable proper—a three-inch rope of fine and tested hemp. This was in two sections of a thousand feet each, united by a long splice. On the summit of the Canadian cliff it was twined about three axletrees placed one behind another in holes drilled for them in the solid rock. It was made as taut as possible by a windlass worked by horses

Weighty Evidence—Size of this 40-pound channel bass may be hard to top before the copper-colored fighters quit running this winter. So far it's the largest of the species to be taken in 1951 with rod and reel. The huge bass was landed by Elwood Groseclose on tackle more suitable for a three-pound bluefish.

They're Off And Running!—Those are plastic nags, destined to spend their days galloping around the outer fringes of a merry-go-round spurred on by hard-riding juvenile cowpokes. Right now, with the aid of an automatic conveyor they're thundering off a Cargoliner. They flew there in a herd of 250 from the factory where they were foaled.

on the American shore, some two thousand feet distant. The rope hung high at either end, however, and was sagged about fifty feet in the center by its own weight.

To reduce the swaying of the slender bridge, it was necessary to put on guy lines.

He was no novice. He had walked many ropes before, in perilous places and at perilous heights. It was no artificial courage that Blondin possessed, born of mere skill and vanity. The son of one of Napoleon's own heroes, he had inherited many of his father's qualities. On the voyage to America he had sprung overboard to rescue a drowning man. As performers go, he is said to have been rather modest than otherwise. In spite of his reckless daring, he is known to have been not a little cautious where caution seemed to be required.

Blondin was inspecting some of the guys. Now he was talking with those about him. He was making ready to step off. He was picking up his balance pole—a fifty-pound burden—and placing his foot upon the rope. And now he was launched in space and had begun his journey toward the British province of Upper Canada: a breathless moment.

Without hesitation, the performer proceeded briskly, almost casually, to the center of the cable. There he seated himself with great composure and glanced complacently about him at the thronging shores. He did not look down, it was reported; that was something he had trained himself never to do. After a few seconds he rose upright, strolled forward again for some feet, and again stopped. This time he stretched himself at full length upon the rope, lying upon his back, his balance pole horizontally across his chest. Another moment of suspense; then a feat of appalling rashness. He turned a back somersault upon the rope, came upright upon his feet, and walking rapidly to his landing stage, arrived as coolly as if he had no more than alighted from a bus.

The entire journey, with its stopovers, had occupied about five minutes.—From "Bookman's Holiday," by Vincent Starrett. Copyright, 1942.

THE FARM FRONT

Damage to soil caused by the force of falling raindrops is something often overlooked, even by soil conservationists.

The weight of water falling on an acre of land in an inch of rain is nearly 110 tons, points out Frederick Bisal of the Swift Current Soil Research Laboratory, and the drops striking bare soil, splash about 22.5 tons of clay or loam soil.

Water is as important as fertility for growing crops so it is essential to hold it where it falls. Experiments at the Laboratory, says Mr. Bisal, show that an inch of rainfall on a bare clay or loam soil reduces the infiltration rate to approximately one-third of an inch an hour. If the rainfall is of greater intensity than this, the excess will become the runoff water. This runoff becomes very high during an intense rain, and is capable of carrying a great load of soil with consequent severe erosion.

Nature's answer is a cushion of organic matter of plants or dead undercomposed plant material. This breaks the force of the falling raindrops and no soil is lost, but the water gently finds its way into the subsoil for storage and future use by growing crops.

The simplest way to save the soil and hold the rain where it falls, is to protect the surface of the soil from the force of the raindrops with a suitable plant or straw mulch cover.

Selecting swine breeding stock is a year-round job. It is one calling for planning, observations, records, and finally the selection of animals which will maintain or improve the performance of the swine herd.

Experiments at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, show that performance of litter makes is a sound basis for selection for carcass quality. The individual animals must be physically sound, have good length, depth, and bone, and, if gilts, good teats; and should be from the best performing litters. Litter size and thrift at weaning, feed efficiency, and carcass quality are the three main factors determining profit from swine.

The first profits from swine come from large thrifty litters, points out J. S. Stothart, Animal Husbandman at the Station, and so the gilts going into the herd should be from a large thrifty litter, from a sow which repeatedly farrows large thrifty litters and raises them because she is a good milker and a good mother. The gilt herself should have at least 12 and preferably 14 well spaced, functional teats. She should be checked carefully to see that she has no blind teats.

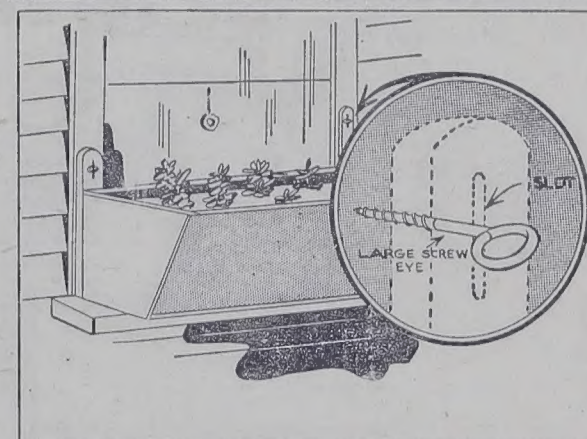

Next, the extra profits from swine are from pigs which convert feed into gain efficiently. Some pigs will gain 100 pounds on from 350 to 400 pounds of feed while others take 450 to 500 pounds to make the same gain. Obviously, the former is the more profitable. Rate of gain is important but mainly in its association with lower feed consumption. Fast gaining pigs are generally the most economical pigs. The task, and here is where a few simple records taken throughout the year will help, is to select boars and gilts from litters which gain at a satisfactory rate on a low consumption of feed.

Finally, says Mr. Stothart, the real profits from swine are from pigs which combine litter size and feed efficiency with carcass quality. Carcass quality commands the top market price and comes from pigs of good length without excess back fat; pigs with light shoulders and full meaty hams and loins. The breeding stock which will improve performance and increase profits, therefore, should be selected from large thrifty litters of good feeding, high grading pigs, as indicated by Advanced Registry tests, and carcass grading results.

You've 10,000 Bulbs On Tip Of Tongue

Hold your tongue—and you're clutching one of the mysteries of science. Physiologists still don't understand why substances should taste the way they do, why sugar is sweet or aloe bitter. One day when the chemistry of flavors is better known, children will be able to collect a whole chain of delightful new sensations merely by licking a taste-card.

Towards the tip of your tongue packed into a third of an inch, are some ten thousand little taste bulbs and chances are that each one flashes only one type of sensation to the brain. Every flavor, from subtlest strawberry to arid dust, evokes a permutation of signals from the taste bulbs. Four main signal flashes—sweet, bitter, acid and saline—control your response.

Bitter and Sweet

Scientists have always imagined that everyone has similar taste-powers. Now they've discovered that some folks can be short-tasted as well as short-sighted. A new chemical called thiourea tastes bitter to six out of ten people, but proves tasteless to the minority of four. Dr. Julian Huxley and other experts tested it on twenty-seven chimpanzees. Their proportion of taste failures was the same.

Children can taste with the insides of their cheeks, suggesting the presence of taste-bulbs that later fall into disuse. This, too, may explain why the desire for sweets is replaced by a preference for such strong flavors as peppermints or curry as we grow older.

Where Color Counts

Many animals have better taste powers than we have, and a Hereford bull especially enjoys his food. He has 30,000 taste bulbs! In addition, many tastes are really smell sensations and some are due to pure imagination. We have always learned to associate raspberry with red, lemon with yellow, orange color with orange flavor. In a New York test, when taste-free thiourea tablets were colored green, a taster pronounced them lime. Black tablets had a burnt taste, though they were known to be free of such flavor.

Disregard can blunt the taste as well as tobacco. Tea-tasters say that the taste of water differs with localities, depending on the salts and minerals in solution. Most people regard water as tasteless—apart from the chlorine in big cities—merely because they've never given it full savor.

He Remembered

In a discussion on women's styles on a radio quiz show, an elderly man was one of the contestants. He was asked: I suppose you are old enough to remember wasp waists?

"Remember 'em," he exclaimed bitterly. "That's when I got stung!"

With the weather man still out-doing old man Fall the Haliburton Arena Board are going to have ice yet in a very short time for one of the earliest openings in ages. However without taking the necessary chances the Monarchs will take off for the Lindsay Arena this coming Thursday night for another 8 to 9 p.m. session. Could be the wind up on the fifty mile haul if everything progresses favourably.

With the Thursday practice under their belts the Monarchs again go to the top win or lose for conditioning and the broadening into a top club in the Intermediate B hockey division when they take on the Stouffville Clippers at Stouffville this coming Saturday night for a 9 p.m. session. As everyone knows the Clippers are a Senior B club and chased the Owen Sound Mercurys all through the regular schedule last year. They also took the nod over the revamped Lindsay Huskies at Stouffville and settled for a draw which the same club on the return to the Lindsay Forum.

Yep, it's a tough cookie but if they keep it clean it will still be a real game. So get behind this years Monarchs folks and give them a little local support.

The Bobcaygeon crew as well as Ralph Phillips and the Rocket ramesbottom are expected to turn out for this one along with the Haliburton boys and Claude Brown and Roy Wingoover who were unable to make the trip to Newmarket. There should be a formidable club take the ice for this one, so maybe they can show the fans what's in store for them this winter yet.

After knocking off the Kingston Vics in Lindsay on the opening game the Lindsay Kings Jr's found a home ton agng ating or them on their return to Kingston and although they only lost the brawl by a 4-3 score apparently 42 penalties were handed out in the battle of the Gaels.

The University must have all turned out for that one or maybe they opened the doors of Port Huron.

The Intermediate Huskies, Lindsay's pride and joy, this season don't have quite as much trouble in downing the Bowmanville crew by an 11-3 score.

Apparently the ground work has been laid for the erection of the new Arena in Minden with only the necessary contract arrangements to be let.

That has been exceptional fast work on the Council's part to have progressed so fast and so favourably especially with the amount of red tape usually demanded of in Queen's Park. With all the sporting element behind us I am sure we can say hats off to our Council for a very efficient drive on the very much needed Centre.

We all hope that contracts will be approved and progress be continued on as active a basis as has the ground work been laid.

This column would also like to congratulate Stuart Harrison and all those who contributed on the clean up for a very efficient job well done and especially in the short period of time allowed turning it over prepared in a good four days under the proposed time limit.

Many heads are spinning these days with a lot of work to be done and with many carrying a pretty big load. Ken Currie, Balkwill and Don James with their committee's are really going to town on the far coat deal that should prove very successful especially with a Mink Coat as the prize and the lady who wins this one or the gentleman who wins it for his lady is going to be a real proud customer. No one will be able to realize the tremendous amount of work involved in the arranging of this Draw for the Minden Centre and anyone only having to put up a dollar bill for a chance on this coat can certainly consider himself a lucky citizen.

Len Bates and Ron Redgers are hard at work organizing the Hotel Association backing on this tragedy that has hit the Minden area and they are also spending a lot of valuable time getting the ground floor laid.

Tickets will soon be pouring on the streets for something of very much interest to the kids as John Kockory's has generously donated either a girl's or boy's bicycle to be drawn for as well in aid of the Minden Community Centre and the Monarch Hockey Club (jointly).

Either one of these bicycles are pretty grand prizes and gives the kids of the neighbourhood an opportunity to dig for this Centre as well by selling tickets 5 for $1.00 and a chance to win this bicycle for themselves.

Arrangements are also under way when Boyd Balkwill was down to Bracebridge lately to have a six of the teams in the Monarch League play throughout an evening of hockey to find a winner by each club meeting each other in a 20 minute period to find a winner.

All proceeds other than the cost of operating the Bracebridge Arena to go to the Minden Centre. With all teams contributing their time and at $1.00 per person, bar none, with each ticket holder getting an opportunity on the Fur Coat draw.

Yes folks everyone is on the move and don't wait for action to start, let us all get on the move.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce manager, Orval Struthers, is a pretty busy man usually, however he is finding himself much busier these days with all donations, etc., to the Minden Centre coming through his Bank and from the number of people who have asked me recently. Where would we forward our money, it appears as though their aren't too many who read my little ditto. Anyhow once again as I have said in the past and will continue to do so until this building is back up on its uprights, please forward your donations large or small, they will be gratefully received. Your pledges or what have you to the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Att. of Minden Community Centre, Minden, Ont. Thank you.

Deac. Jackson Injured

On the opening exhibition game of the season against the Newmarket Redmen the Deacon Jackson had the misfortune to fracture his left wrist in action.

Though accidental, Deacon will be lost to the club for four to six weeks. This is a tough break on Max part as he has always been one of Minden's most enthusiastic supporters and come snow or blizzard was usually Johnny on the Spot altho sometimes a wee bit late.

We hope the fracture heals favourably and we can again see him patrolling the ice lanes for the Monarchs this coming season.

Jack Austin, New Manager of Hal. Hus.

The Haliburton Huskies will be back on the ice again this winter. This was decided upon at the first meeting of the club on Sunday afternoon at the Haliburton Curling Arena. It was a very enthusiastic meeting with a good turnout of hockey players and fans. It was decided that the club would be without a senior hockey club for the first time in many years but the successful meeting held on Sunday means that the Huskies will be zooming up and down the ice surface at the Haliburton Arena this winter.

President Glen Austin was in the chair and the following were present at the meeting. Bill Holland, Keith Brannigan, Jim Henry, Al Blanchard, Mark Schell, Joe Hes, Mark Scheffee, Curry Bishop, Murray Austin, Grant Robertson, Boyd Robertson, Bud Dart, Jack Austin, Wally Chambers, Herb Baker and Lou Consky.

When nominations came up Jack Austin got the nod to go in as manager of the club taking over from Keith Brannigan who did a good job last season. Jack has had plenty of experience with the club and will select men to assist him with operation of the Huskies. It was also decided at this meeting that the club would do away with a trainer, equipment manager and other small positions. In order to cut down expense and other items the club will be operated with three men instead of the nine holding down positions last season.

Wally Chambers was put in as Secretary Treasurer until further notice. He held this position last season. It was also brought up that no players shall play for the Haliburton Huskies unless he is covered by insurance which will be bought by the club. Herb Baker who played for the Lindsay Juniors last season dropped into the meeting and told Jack Austin that he will sign up with the club this season. This was good news to all fans and players present. All players present signed a form showing that they were interested in playing for the Huskies this season. Just what league the team will be entered in will be decided upon at another meeting. A general meeting will be held sometime in December. The first Huskies practice will be this Sunday at 2 o'clock.

Huskies To Appoint A Coach

The Haliburton Huskies will appoint a coach in the near future. The coach may be selected by the players of the club. Some of the local football fans were in Toronto over the week end for the Grey Cup. It is expected that the Haliburton Arena will be open sometime this week. The Minden Monarchs will be playing more exhibition games. Give now to the Minden Recreation rebuilding fund. All donations large or small will be appreciated. Herb Baker will be playing for the Haliburton Huskies this season. This statement was made at the Huskies hockey meeting at the Curling arena on Sunday. Up to Sunday the Haliburton Curling arena was still without ice. The flooding of this arena is to start very soon. Kelly of Bobcaygeon who is now employed at National Steel Car may be out with Haliburton Huskies this winter. The hockey fever seems to be getting the citizens of the County this week and there is plenty of talk of the effect that the Northern Hockey League will be in operation this winter. Wally Chambers last seasons Sec-Treas. of the Huskies Hockey club is back this year until further notice. The Haliburton Huskies have a letter from a hockey club in Oshawa wanting to play the locals a game this winter.

Bert Curry Donates $100 To Huskies

Bert Curry, a very rabid hockey supporter in Haliburton, gave the Haliburton Huskies a real boost to start off the season. When it was decided at the meeting Sunday that each player should be insured before they go on the ice Bert stated that he would donate $100 to this fund. This donation is greatly appreciated by the players and the club and they wish to take this opportunity to thank Bert for this money. The club will take out a policy covering each player who may get hurt on the ice. This is a good idea and one that will benefit each and every player that wears a Huskies Hockey sweater this year. The Minden Monarchs are also covered by the same kind of insurance. Thanks a million Bert for the $100 contribution.

County Sports Extras!

It's hockey time once again in the County of Haliburton. The cold spell that we have been having lately covered the lakes with a coat of ice and the skaters and hockey players have been taking advantage of it. On Sunday the lake at Haliburton was covered with hockey players of all ages out their for the first workout of the season. With then Minden Monarchs well on their road to ano. their season and the Haliburton Huskies organizing on Sunday hockey must be just around the corner. From where we sit it looks like plenty of hockey action at the Haliburton Arena this winter.

Two teams the Minden Monarchs and the Haliburton Huskies will be using the arena for their home games this winter. The Community Hal Board will be pleased to see this revenue coming in at the gate.

The Huskies had a very successful meeting on Sunday and Haliburton will have a hockey club after all. Jack Austin one of the hardest working hockey men in Haliburton is back again as Manager. Jack held this position a couple of years ago and takes over from Keith Brannigan who was at the helm last season. Jack will be the big gun this season and will have full charge of the entire Huskies organization. As for the men needed to do the work for the club they will be selected by none other than our good friend Jack Austin. So it can easily be seen that Mr Austin will be a very busy man this season. It will be up to him and an assistant to be on the lookout for hockey talent from now until the season officially opens and we hope that won't be too long from now. Yes it looks like a very busy season in Haliburton with the Monarchs and the Huskies out to pack them in under the same roof. Yes hockey season is here again. And now it's up to Grant Scheffee to get the ice in shape for the first game of the season.

There were a lot of disappointed kids on Saturday night when they heard that the arena would not be open in Haliburton. It was rumoured around on Saturday afternoon that the arena would be open on Saturday night for the first stake of the season. Many came to the door with skates only to find it closed and the ice surface will have to be flooded a few more times before it will be ready for skating.

Grant Robertson, who is playing right wing for the Huskies last season, is a doubtful starter with the club this season. Grant, who is teaching school at Irondale, finds it very hard to get out to practice and says that he can't keep in condition by only playing one game a week.

Preparations are now underway to have a juvenile O.H.A. hockey club in Haliburton this season. Orr Curry and Jack Austin will look after the club. All players from the county are asked to turn out to the first work out which will be held very soon.

The new caretaker of the Haliburton Community Arena will be announced sometime in the future.

Think it over and give to the Minden Recreation rebuilding fund. Every dollar will count.

An Eye to the Future

Long term planning helps you to raise more than the average for your area. This planning for the future should especially be applied to the five basic factors of farming. They are: Land, Livestock, Labour, Capital and Size of Farm or Farm Business. Every farm is different and has its individual problems. So it's up to you to make each factor work hard for you.

Many farmers have found it helpful to talk with their Commerce manager. He represents a bank that has for many years taken a keen interest in promoting better farming and in looking after Canadian farmers' banking needs. Why not pay him a visit?

High School News

Rev T. Rutherford Address Students

The Rev T. Rutherford B.A. of the United Church, Haliburton, was the guest speaker at last Friday morning's assembly. The meeting was organized by Grade XI, and Jack Roberts of Eagle Lake was chairman. The assembly opened with a Bible reading by Dorothy Rinne (Haliburton) and was followed by the singing of God Save the King. Jim Pearson (Haliburton) then introduced the speaker. Mr Rutherford chose "The Balance of Life" as the title of his talk. He mentioned that each one of us was composed of three parts, — a mind, a body and a soul. He emphasized that only by a balance and harmonious working of these three entities could a full and happy life be achieved. He spoke of a balanced study in a school curriculum and the need of a good foundation of knowledge. The body in work and play was then considered and the important role and value of recreation. Lastly, but by no means least, Mr Rutherford elaborated on the place of the soul, as the spiritual part of ourselves in our life's work. He ended his talk with the exhortation, "go to work on your mind, go to work on your body and go to work on your soul." The speaker was thanked for his interesting and stimulating talk by Jean Sprout (Haliburton).

Guests at Lindsay

Mr G. H. Thayer, the Principal, and Mr D. Clee were guests at last week's banquet of the Lindsay Public School Teachers Federation. Mr Clee was the after dinner speaker and gave a talk on life and conditions in present Germany. Amongst the gathering were two former Haliburton students, Mrs. J. Haggan and Mr. Roy Neville, both now teaching in Lindsay. High School Commencement Concert This Friday sees the performance of the Annual Commencement Concert. The programme commences at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall, Haliburton. Price of admission is 40 cents. The stage part of the programme consists of a piano solo, a song duet, Hungarian and 18th Century dances and one called "The Blue Danube." There is also a French play "Le Brait Court" (The Noisy Courtyard). Selections from Shakespeare plays will consist of "The Sleep Walking Scene" and the "Witches Scene" from Macbeth; the Trial of "Katharine of Aragon" (Henry VIII) and a tableau "All The World's A Stage" (As You Like It).

Speeches and addresses will be given by Mr A. Stouffer, B.A., Public School Inspector, who will also act as chairman; Mr. Wendell Sedgewick of Minden, Mr D. F. Dodson, B.A., High School Inspector, Mr Ron Curry, member of the High School Board and by Mr C. W. Hodgson, M.P.

Certificates, prizes and sports trophies will be presented by Mr. Cecil Irwin, B.S., Chairman of the High School Board, Mr. Victor Shaver, Vice Chairman and Harry Bishop, President of the Haliburton Legion and Mr Harold Black, President of the Haliburton Rotary Club.

Highways Engineer Weds

Haliburton—A double ring ceremony took place in Runnymede United Church, Toronto, in a setting of standards of white mums and palms when Jean Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon C. Rutherford, became the bride of Campbell R. Robertson, Engineer with the Department of Highways, in Haliburton.

Rev. E. W. Jewitt officiated with W. E. Bouchier, cousin of the groom, playing the wedding music. The soloist was Mrs. A. B. Scott, who sang at the bride's mother's wedding.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory brocade satin. Her fingertip veil was caught to a small self cap. Pink roses and white mums with ivy formed her cascade bouquet. Miss Phyllis Rutherford was maid of honour for her sister wearing a gown of peacock blue taffeta fashioned in the same style as the bride's with a yoke of silver patterned blue net. She wore a small scalloped cap of blue net over taffeta and carried bronze and yellow mums. Jack Robertson was best man for his brother and ushers were Ron Hill and Lorne Darnell.

Have Quiet Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Soward, Durnside Dr., marked their 54th wedding anniversary quietly. Mrs. Soward was born at "The Mill" Minden, Ont., daughter of the former Victoria Henderson and Thomas Stinson, who operated one of Ontario's early grist mills. Mr. Soward was born in Brighton, England, and came to Canada when he was three years old. His father was Rev. Edward Soward.

The couple have five children: Prop. F. H. Soward of Vancouver; C. E. Soward of Montreal; H. G. Soward and R. H. Soward and Mrs. J. H. Batten of Toronto. There are nine grandchildren and Mr. and Mrs. Soward are members of St. Michael's and All Angels Church, where Mr. Soward has been an active sidesman for many years.

TORY HILL

Mrs. Wm. Hart and daughter Katharine motored to Little Britain last Saturday to spend the week end with Mr and Mrs Hal Young. Daughter Elizabeth returned home with them on Sunday.

The Tory Hill United Church W. A. are holding a rummage sale, bazaar and home baking sale jointly with S. Wilberforce W. A. in the basement of the church next Thursday evening, Nov. 29th commencing at 8 p.m. The members brought used clothing and bazaar articles to be sold to the home of Mrs. Fred Watson last Tuesday evening, when final preparations were made for this sale, proceeds of which are in aid of both W.A.'s.

Messrs. Lawrence Power and Terry Dyrul of Toronto Normal School are student teachers in the local school this week. A special meeting of the Monmouth Township School Area Board was held in Tory Hill last Friday, Nov. 23rd at 8 p.m. All trustees were present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the following business was conducted. It was moved by Noble and Hughey that the resignation of Mrs. Marjorie Lavendar, teacher of the junior room at Wilberforce be accepted, the resignation to be effective December 21st.

Moved by Johnston and Dack; that the board try to secure the services of Miss Marion Sedgwick of Gelet to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Lavendar.

A letter from Mr F. Stevens requesting approval from the school board for a proposed trip to the Hydro Power Station at Minden on an educational tour for senior grade pupils of Tory Hill School. Met with approval.

A second request for financial aid in a proposed early spring tour by bus to the Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto, in which Mr Stevens proposes to conduct approximately forty senior grade pupils of the three schools in this area, has been held over for further consideration. The recent request of the Monmouth Home and School Association that the School Board purchase a nature study chart, the Association having agreed upon the purchase of one said chart, for the Tory Hill and Essonville schools was approved on a motion from Dack and Noble.

It was moved by Johnston and Noble that the secretary post notices immediately in several public places calling for wood tenders for the three schools in the area for 1952 requirements.

On a motion from Noble and Dack the secretary is to remind teachers in the area that to avoid confusion as to the whereabouts of the projector they adhere strictly to the travelling schedule as supplied them by the board.

YOU WILL SOON RECEIVE A LETTER from your local Rotary Club requesting that you buy Christmas seals to aid in the fight against tuberculosis. The free x-ray services provided through the sale of these seals has saved many a life. Early detection of this dread malady often means saving a person having to enter a hospital or sanitarium or if they do it is just for a short period. If T.B. can be detected in its early stages it can nearly in every case be cured. Your contribution will show that you have joined in the never ending fight against the white plague.

The Tumult And The Shouting Dies

ON THURSDAY LAST, old man Ontario went to the polls and as a result the Conservatives and their leader, Hon. Leslie M. Frost won a smashing victory. The member for Victoria and Haliburton has proved himself to be a very popular Premier and now finds himself at the head of a very strong government with scant opposition. The Liberals under Walter C. Thomson conducted a strong campaign but Thomson himself met defeat in his own riding. Mr. E. B. Jolliffe, Leader of the C.C.F. also suffered defeat. It is now up to the citizens of all political views to forget their differences and work united for a greater and more prosperous Ontario.

ANNE HIRST

Your Family Counselor

"Dear Anne Hirst: I can't sleep or eat for worrying! For two years I've gone with a young man I'm madly in love with... Two months ago he told me his parents do not like me, and that he can't afford to oppose them. (He works for his father.) He claims he loves me more than ever, but says he's so mixed up he doesn't know his right mind.

"Why they disapprove, I don't know. I've never been in his home, though I've met most of his family. In spite of all the mean things they've said about me I have no ill feelings, and think I could grow to love them.

"I come from a good family—not rich, but we all have a fine life together. I've a good job, belong to the nicest organizations in town, and have loads of friends. They are as amazed at all this as I am.

"He is 30, I'm 25. Surely he should have a mind of his own?"
"Now I see him only a lunch. He is dating a girl whom his parents like, and have entertained in their home."
"I see other boys, but that isn't fair when I'm always thinking of him. One old friend now wants to marry me; his family are wonderful. I am only fond of him, but I know he would be good to me."
"Please advise me. Shall I stop seeing the man I love? Marry the other boy? Or leave town?"

JUNE."

* To help the man you love make up his mind, stop seeing him at all—and give him a definite period to decide. Perhaps his father is using their business association to influence him, and the prospect of looking elsewhere for a livelihood does not appeal to him. Some men are like that.
* Why his parents dislike you, no one can tell—unless they have already chosen the girl they want him to marry. Some parents are like that, too.
* If the young man's parents win out, leaving town for a while, as you consider will prove helpful in recovering from that blow. You will be absent from both these men who love you—and that has its advantages too. It will give you a clearer perspective, and later on may incline you toward this other one who loves you too.
* Meanwhile, don't leave him in doubt. Let him know you are only fond of him, and not in love. If you remain at home, his attentions will be comforting—and you will need all the comfort you can get.
* Love will surely come to you again. Don't marry anybody you do not love, even though you're sorry for him, or think he'll make a good husband. It would not be fair to you nor to him.

If anything comes between you and the man you love, give him time to make up his mind.—But not too long... Anne Hirst's understanding and wise counsel can guide you toward a happier ending. Write her at Box 1, 123 Eighteenth St., New Toronto, Ont.

MERRY MENAGERIE

"He's hired by the week just to scratch his head!"

Pay-as-you-go—Settle it on the spot, is the motto of the motorist who left a dollar bill and his parking ticket (arrow) attached to the parking meter in Minneapolis. It was a nice gesture, but not fully satisfactory to police because the fine for parking violations is two dollars.

CHRONICLES OF GINGER FARM

by Gwendolyn D. Clarke

Last week while other folk were slipping and sliding all over the roads, to say nothing of getting into ditches, I had no trouble at all. Wonderful car? Oh no... wonderful woman... I stayed at home! Except Thursday, that was our W.I. meeting, and being on the lunch committee I felt morally bound to put in an appearance. And then I had to stay put until the man of the house came along to help turn me around. He was away all afternoon you know how men have a way of disappearing every time there is a bunch of women around. That same night our local Horticultural Society had engaged Mrs. Joan Copeland, from the Port Credit Violet House, to address their meeting. Her subject, of course, was African violets. I didn't want to drive, and I didn't want to miss the meeting so I took a taxi downtown and got a ride home with a neighbor.

It was a big meeting—men and women too—and every one of those people was interested in growing African violets. Mrs. Copeland spoke of this urge to grow violets as a disease—you get the bug the very first time someone gives you a leaf and says—"Put it in water or soil—it'll grow!"

Most of what Mrs. Copeland told us I had already read in various magazine articles, yet hearing it at first-hand was a lot more impressive. And here is something I had not heard before. The little leaves that form on the outside of the main stem should always be pinched off. They are suckers, said Mrs. Copeland, and absorb a tremendous amount of strength from the parent plant. The only leaves to be retained are the ones that grow from the centre. The next morning I pinched all the suckers off my plants—and there were quite a few.

Over-watering is a sure way to kill your violets, we were told. A three-inch pot requires only about a tablespoon of luke-warm water—fed from the top! Violets don't like to be soaked through and through and the don't like to have their feet in water. But Mrs. Copeland also said this: "If you are having good luck with your violets, and your methods are different from mine, don't let anything I say, or what anyone else says either, influence you one bit. Just keep on going the way you are—not everyone achieves success the same way." (And methinks that applies to more than growing violets!)

It was 8 o'clock when I left home that night—and 11 o'clock when I got back. "Where in blazes have you been?" Partner inquired politely when I stepped in.

"Just to a violet meeting."
"Well, my gosh, you couldn't have been talking violets all that time—or if you were you must have been bored."

"Ah, but we were talking violets—and we certainly weren't bored." And that was no exaggeration either. People had been asked to bring their worst plants and their best—and we all wanted to know about each one of them. Mrs. Copeland told us what ailed the poor ones and gave a prize for the best. After the meeting closed we gathered around those plants like bees round a honeypot. Bored! No one even looked at the clock... except maybe a few husbands who had called to pick up their violet-loving wives. Maybe they looked at the clock a good many times.

Anyway Partner had no room to talk—he was out to a Milk Board meeting the night before—and he also returned at 11:30. Now I ask you, by any stretch of imagination, could milk be as interesting as African violets? Sure, I know it is more profitable... but interesting! Controversial would be a better word to describe it.

The milk question is about as unsettled as the cease-fire negotiations at the U.N. Conference.

Well, the Royal Tour has ended. I hope everyone heard Princess Elizabeth's farewell address. It seemed to me there was a rather sad, wistful quality in her voice that had not been there on previous occasions. It was the voice of sincerity, giving expression to a heartfelt feeling of appreciation and gratitude for the royal way in which Canada had welcomed its Royal visitors. In some way, I believe the visit of this young couple has meant more to the people of Canada than did the visit of the King and Queen. We have seen them, met them and heard them. No longer can they be regarded as figureheads but rather as a normal lovable couple, whose only difference from other normal, lovable couples lies in the fact that Destiny has placed them in higher places.

A DOUBTING AND DISOBEDIENT PEOPLE

Number 14: 16 1-11

Memory Selection: If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. 1 John 1:9.

When the children of Israel had spent nearly a year—twelve men, one from each tribe, spied out the land. In forty days they returned bringing of the fruit of the land. All agreed that it was a land flowing with milk and honey. But ten men were fearful of the inhabitants and proceeded to impart their fear to the people. Caleb said, "Let us go up at once, and possess it!" The majority report won and the people longed to be back in Egypt. Indeed when Joshua and Caleb further urged the people saying, "The Lord is with us; fear them not," the congregation was about to stone them when the glory of the Lord appeared in the tabernacle. God threatened to destroy the people and raise up a nation to Moses. But Moses interceded in prayer. God forgave but determined that all the adults except Caleb and Joshua would die in the wilderness in forty years of wanderings. How strange is human nature. When they heard God's verdict they presumed to enter the land. But this offered step of obedience and faith was too late. They were smitten by the enemy.

God was patient with the children of Israel. There is a pathos in the story of their wanderings and doubts and fears. The record is given us that we may profit from their mistakes. We have a great God. We need not fear. Let us go forward in faith.

And the RELIEF IS LASTING

For fast, prolonged relief from headache get INSTANTINE. This prescription-like tablet contains not just one, but three proven medical ingredients that ease the pain fast. And the relief is, in most cases, lasting.

Try INSTANTINE just once for pain relief and you'll say as thousands do that there's one thing for headache... it's INSTANTINE!

And try INSTANTINE for other aches, too... for neuritic or neuralgic pain... or for the pains and aches that accompany a cold. A single tablet usually brings prompt relief.

TABLE TALKS

Jane Andrews

Today the column features a very tasty noodle-cheese dish—picture herewith—made with the help of AC'CENT. (That should be one of those little French marks over the first "C" rather than an apostrophe, but the linotype on which this is set just doesn't happen to have such a thing.) AC'CENT, as many of you probably know, is pure monosodium glutamate which has no flavor of its own, but helps wonderfully in bringing out the flavors of almost anything to which it is added. And I might say that several friends of mine, whose special diets forbid the use of salt, are allowed to use AC'CENT and find it a real blessing.

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------------|
| 1 8-ounce package fine noodles | Few grains pepper |
| 1 cup milk, scalded | 1/2 teaspoon AC'CENT |
| 3 eggs, beaten | (pure monosodium glutamate) |
| 1 1/2 cups grated sharp Cheddar Cheese | 1 bunch carrots, sliced and cooked* |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 2 cups cooked lima beans* |
| | 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine |
| | 1/2 cup chopped peanuts |

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender; drain; rinse with cold water. Pour scalded milk over eggs; add to noodles with cheese and seasonings. Pour into greased 9-inch ring mold; set in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven, 325° F. 45 minutes. Unmold on serving plate. Fill center with hot vegetables. Melt butter or margarine; add peanuts; cook until butter begins to brown; pour over vegetables and top of noodle ring. Makes 6 servings. *Add 1/4 teaspoon AC'CENT to cooking water.

Now for a few pie recipes. If you'd like to make a lemon meringue pie that is just right in flavor, texture, and color—stiff enough to cut without being "runny," with a deep yellow color and a fresh tangy flavor that is not too sweet and not too sour—try this recipe.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

- 7 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups hot water
- 3 egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 baked pastry shell

Mix cornstarch, sugar, and salt thoroughly in saucepan. Pour in hot water and cook over high heat, stirring constantly about six minutes, or until mixture is thick and translucent. Remove from stove and add beaten egg yolks. Return to stove and cook at low heat stirring constantly for six minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon juice and butter. Cool before pouring into baked pastry shell. Top with meringue made with three egg whites, 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar and 6 tablespoons sugar. Bake at 400° F. until golden brown. Cool several hours away from drafts before cutting.

An unusual fruit pie combines fresh cranberries and canned peaches (pictured). Strips of pastry, twisted spirally, serve instead of a top crust and add a decorative touch to the colorful contents.

CRANBERRY-PEACH PIE

- 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 2 1/2 cups fresh cranberries
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 No. 2 1/2 can peaches, halves cut into wedges
- pastry for 1 1/2 crusts

Mix tapioca and water; cook together 5 minutes. Add sugar and cranberries and continue to boil 5 minutes longer, or until all the cranberry skins pop open. Cool and add extract. Prepare pastry mix and line pie pan with dough. Pour 3/4 of cranberry mixture into shell; top with peach wedges and remaining cranberry sauce. Put strips of dough across pie and bake at 425° F. for about 25 minutes.

Dried fruits are often combined effectively to make a hearty two-crust pie, and here is one that will please the man of the family.

WINTER FRUIT PIE

- 1 cup dried apricots or peaches (or half of each)
- 1 cup raisins
- 3/4 cup peach juice
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Pastry for 2-crust pie
Simmer dried fruit and raisins in water until tender (about 15 minutes). Combine fruit juices and rind and pour over drained fruit. Add remaining ingredients, stirring lightly until well blended. Pour in pastry-lined pie plate and dot with butter. Top with pastry that has steam vents pricked in it. Bake at 425° F. for 10 minutes, then at 350° F. about 35 minutes.

If your family is tired of plain pumpkin pie, serve them a coconut pumpkin chiffon pie topped with a wreath of whipped cream on which is sprinkled toasted shredded coconut. They'll say they've never known pumpkin pie can be so good.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

- 1 envelope of plain gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1 1/4 cups mashed, cooked pumpkin
- 3/4 cup evaporated milk
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 egg yolks slightly beaten
- 3/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon each, nutmeg and cinnamon
- 2 egg whites
- 1 cup shredded coconut, toasted
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell
- 1/2 cup cream whipped and sweetened
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup water. Combine pumpkin, milk, 1/2 cup water, egg yolks, 1/2 cup of the sugar, salt and spices in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until foamy. Add remaining sugar gradually, beating until stiff. Fold in pumpkin mixture, vanilla and 3/4 of toasted coconut. Turn into cold pie shell and chill until firm. Just before serving, top with whipped cream sprinkled over with remaining coconut.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I clean parchment lamp shades?

A. Dip a woolen cloth into cold water and wring fairly dry. Then moisten with linseed oil and rub over the shade, repeating until all the dust has been removed. Dry with a woolen cloth. If the shades are shabby, give them a coat of white shellac.

Q. How can I prepare a simple furniture polish?

A. A furniture polish that can be used on the finest woods can be made of one part vinegar, with equal parts of linseed oil and turpentine.

Q. How can I treat a head cold?

A. Try snuffing powdered borax up into the nose; it will aid considerably in drying out a cold.

Q. How can I make a substitute sizing for plastered walls and ceilings that are to be painted with oil paints?

A. When no commercial sizing is available, these walls may be sized with carpenter's glue, diluted with a large quantity of water.

Q. What can I do if the metal tips of a shoe string come off?

A. Dip the ends of the strings into mucilage. This will stiffen them and make it easy to put them through the eyelets.

Q. How can I make the task of removing old paint easier?

A. Dampen the sandpaper with benzine, and it will lighten the work of removing old paint.

Q. How can I clean woodwork or furniture that is oiled or varnished?

A. Clean with a soft cloth moistened with lemon oil. Then rub this briskly into a polish, using a clean, dry polishing cloth. Or you may use kerosene and linseed oil, mixed; but lemon oil dries more rapidly.

Q. How can I revive a fern?

A. Often a fern that is considered dead can be revived by standing the pot in a tub of hot water for an hour, or until the water becomes cool.

Q. How can I give an added flavor to prunes?

A. A delicious flavor will be the result if a small stick of cinnamon and several slices of lemon are added to the prunes while they are simmering.

Q. How can I mend broken marble?

A. Make a very stiff paste of Portland cement and water. Clean the edges of the marble thoroughly, apply the cement to both broken edges, press the edges together very tightly, and tie securely until the cement has set.

Seagram TELLS THE WORLD ABOUT Canada

This advertisement was designed by The House of Seagram to tell the people of other lands about Canada and things exclusively Canadian.

Many people in Latin America, Asia, Europe and other parts of the world are not fully aware of the richness of Canada's natural resources, wild life, scenic beauty and cultural traditions. The more the peoples of other lands know about our country, the greater will be their interest in Canada and Canadian products.

The House of Seagram feels that the horizon of industry does not terminate at the boundary of its plants; it has a broader horizon, a farther view—a view dedicated to the development of Canada's stature in every land of the globe.

They Grow Like Mushrooms!

ISN'T IT A FACT?

... Before we know it, our children are grown up and begin to prepare to take their places in the fast moving world!
... It's a fact too that, all too soon, we will be looking ahead to the time when we can take things easier. But many of us neglect to take the necessary steps to make sure we will have an income after business is finished with us!
... And it is so easy to arrange for a Private Income which will see us through as long as we live. With an investment in Dominion Life, you can be sure your family will have income for the necessities of life when you die, and you will have an income or your own retirement if you live.
